RATING
A substantial Meiji era (1868 – 1912) Japanese Bronze Ikebana Vase from the Tokyo School signed Toto Hidemitsu. Expertly crafted in bronze and mixed metals a kingfisher is depicted perched on the end of a fruiting grapevine. Skilfully embossed in silver, gold, copper and black enamel it is a rare find.
The signature is on the body of the vase (see images). There is a light dent to the upper back of the vase (please see photo 6).

An unusually tall vase relying entirely on its dark patination and its strong sculptural form for effect, the central fluted section emerging from waves whipped up by the sea, culminating in a flower-like opening.

Size: height 23" (58.4 cm)

Mark: Six character mark in square panel beneath base: Toto Hidemitsu kansei (supervised and made by Hidemitsu of the eastern capital [Tokyo])
